A WARM SESSION. A BIG SLANDER SUIT

Chamberlain Is Called a D--d Liar in House of Commons

John Dillon Promptly Suspended—An Exciting Passage Over the Boer War.

ALL ENGLAND IS AGOG OVER EPISODE

London, March 21.—One of the liveliest scenes witnessed in the house of commons since the partest days of the Irish Nationalists has ended with the suspension of John Dillon. During the discussion of the South African affairs the liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, vigorously protested against the government's conduct in uttering "malignant slanders" in calling the liberals "pro-boers."

These slanders, Sir Henry said, were used for party purposes. The government, which had been going from blunder to blunder, claimed immunity from criticism, and if it continued it would follow "the president of the evil days of the American war."

The colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, in the course of a usually incisive reply, said that it desired to deliberately accuse Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman of losing opportunity for slandering his countrymen, the soldiers and the recruits. Consequently the "malignant slanders" had come from this position.

The speaker, Sir William Court, then, here intervened and declared that the term "malignant slander" was unparliamentary. With Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman and Mr. Chamberlain thereupon withdrew the words would close.

Mr. Chamberlain, continuing, referred to the Boers who fight on the British side, when John Dillon, Irish Nationalist, interrupted: "They are traitors," on which Mr. Chamberlain retorted:

"The honorable gentleman a good judge of traitors."

A scene of great confusion ensued. When order was partially restored Mr. Dillon demanded a ruling on Mr. Chamberlain's words.

The speaker said: "An honorable member spoke of soldiers fighting under the British flag as traitors. I deprecated the interruption, if I deprecated the retort of the honorable member."

Mr. Dillon then said: "I will tell the right honorable member that he is a damnable liar."

A dead silence followed the remark. Such unparliamentary language seemed to stun the house.

The speaker lifted Mr. Dillon to withdraw the extension, at the latter said:

"I will not withdraw."

"Then I suspend you," said the speaker.

The government leader, A. J. Balfour, then said:

"I beg to inform Mr. Dillon he is suspended from the house."

The motion carried by 218 to 49 votes.

Mr. Dillon, finally, by direction of the speaker, left the house, amid wild nationalist cheers, and Mr. Chamberlain read his speech.

Mr. Dillon's suspension, under the present rules, not exceed a week. His offense will have been much more severely with had the new rules been in.

Housekeeper at the Palmer House Sues Well Known Tie Man

For $5,000—Alleges He Called Her a Thief—Suit For Divorce Filed in Circuit Court.

ALIMONY ASKED BY UNHAPPY WIVES

Miss Annie B. Langston, housekeeper at the Palmer House, this morning filed suit in circuit court against Captain E. R. Dutt, the well known tie man, for $5,000 for alleged slander. It is claimed in her petition that the defendant in public and surrounded by several prominent and respectable citizens, asserted that she was a thief. She claims that the remark has damaged her reputation and injured her feelings to the extent of $5,000 and prays judgment for this amount.

The plaintiff has been an employee at the Palmer House for several years, and the defendant is one of the best known tie buyers in this section of the country, and has been coming to Paducah for a number of years. His headquarters are now in Jopka, Ill. Moss and Moss brought the suit.

Louise E. Endres of Elizabeth street, city, filed a suit for divorce against her husband, John A. Endres, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. She states that they were married at Metropolis, Ill., and that the defendant has cruelly beat and made life with him unbearable. She asks for an absolute divorce, the custody of their child and $2,000 alimony for herself and the support of the child. The suit was filed by Attorneys Campbell and Campbell.

Suzanne Potter has filed a suit for divorce against her husband, Cecelia Potter, and for $50 per month alimony for the support of herself and child. She stated that they were married in the county on June 17th, 1900, and that on the 17th day of the same month, same year, after they had been married only two days, he left her without any cause whatever, and has since contributed nothing to her support. She asks for the custody of their child and $25 alimony. The suit was filed by Attorneys Moss and Moss.

SAPP'S ENEMIES.

THEY HAVE HAD HIM INDICTED AT LOUISVILLE.

Louisville, March 21.—For several days past it was rumored that enemies of Former Collector Sapp were putting forth every effort to have him indicted. Today the federal grand jury found two bills against Mr. Sapp and Leonard Parsons, and three bills against Joseph Potting, charging them with violating the civil service law in connection with the levying of assessments on government employees for political purposes.

IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

ONLY MONK IN THE WORLD HOLDING SUCH A PLACE.

Bartonsville, Ky., March 21.—Brother Joachim, a member of the Gethsemane Trappists, has been commissioned as a notary public for Nelson county by Governor Beckham. Brother Joachim is known to the world as Jack Manning of Owensboro, and is probably the only monk in the United States holding a civil office.

WHITE CAPS FLOG A NEGRO.

Clarksville, Tenn., March 21.—Several nights ago a band of six masked men went to the home of Josh Key, a darky who had finished a term on the chain gang for carrying a pistol, took him from his home, made him walk about in the cold barefooted for some time and then whipped him. The white caps then told the darky if he did not go to work they would hang him to the limb of a tree. He has since been at work. Key lives in the Sixteenth district of this county, and has been known as a lazy, worthless negro.

CANCEROUS

ULCERS

Are in many respects like other ulcers or sores, and this resemblance often proves fatal. Valuable time is lost in fruitless efforts to heal the sore with washes and salves, because the germs of Cancer that are multiplying in the blood and the new Cancer cells which are constantly developing keep up the irritation and discharge, and at last sharp shooting pains announce the approach of the eating and sloughing stage, and a hideous, sickening cancerous sore begins its destructive work.

No ulcer or sore can exist without some predisposing internal cause that has poisoned the blood, and the open discharging ulcer, or the festering sore on the lip, cheek or other part of the body will continue to spread and eat deeper into the flesh unless the blood is purified and the Cancer germs or morbid matter eliminated from the circulation.

S. S. S. cleanses the blood of all decaying effete matter. It has great antidotal and purifying properties that soon destroy the germs and poisons and restore the blood to its natural condition. And when pure blood is carried to the ulcer or sore the healing process begins, the discharge ceases and the place heals over and new skin forms. S. S. S. is a strictly vegetable blood purifier containing no mercury or minerals of any description.

• If you have an ulcer or chronic sore of any kind, write us about it, medical advice will cost you nothing. Books on Cancer and other diseases of the blood will be sent free.

MILD ROAST.

THE CINCINNATI ENQUIRER GIVES A FEW POINTS ABOUT THE LEGISLATURE.

A Frankfurt dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer says:

The session of the Kentucky legislature of 1902 has come to an end.

The legislature has richly endowed all the institutions of the state.

It has raised the taxes 2 1-2 cents on the hundred dollars.

It has raised all the salaries in Louisville except one, and tried twice to give that one a lift.

It has refused to provide money for a new state capitol.

It has refused to furnish funds for a Kentucky representation at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, where every other state in the union will be represented.

It has failed to redistrict the state according to the requirement of the constitution.

It has refused to pass a bill providing for cheaper school books and endorsed as a Democratic measure.

It has fiercely passed intemperate measures in one branch, and forgot them before they reached the other branch. This refers particularly to the Byron anti-trust bill, but applies generally down to measures to nail shut poolrooms and scourge bad whiskey from the land.

It has been divided critically on the question of allowing cattle to run at large, and after two painful crises has left that matter to be settled locally on spot with a club or otherwise, as may be advisable.

It has been a conservative legislature as you look at it one way. And from another aspect it has been celluloid collar affair.

GOOD RATE GIVEN.

RAILROADS MAKE ARRANGEMENTS TO BRING DELEGATES TO MEDICAL CONVENTION.

The railroad committee, appointed to confer with the railroads of Kentucky and Tennessee relative to rates during the session of the State Medical Society here, have succeeded in getting satisfactory rates from the railroad people.

All the roads running in Tennessee and Kentucky have agreed to make the fare during the meeting of the state society one and one-third fare for the round trip.

The doctors are making great preparations for the meeting and will make it the most successful ever held in the state. By the consolidation of the Southwestern Medical Society and the state society, the attendance will be much larger than was at first expected and there will probably be 200 visitors.

PRINCE REPORTS TO KAISER

LENGTHY ACCOUNT GIVEN OF THE TRIP TO AMERICA.

Berlin, March 21.—Prince Henry landed at Kiel at dusk and joined Princess Irene and their sons. The royal brothers had a talk today lasting several hours, and Prince Henry told Emperor William his experiences from the beginning to the end of his trip.

Members of the prince's party are telling with great delight how they were amused while on their travels at the calls of "Speech," "Speech," from the crowds collected at wayside places to greet the prince and the cries of "How's your brother, Billy?"

HIS SISTER ILL.

DR. W. F. ALVEY CALLED TO CECILIA THIS MORNING.

Dr. W. F. Alvey the well known physician, was called to Cecilia, Ky., this morning by the illness of his sister, Miss Josie Alvey. He received a telegram this morning saying that she was dangerously ill and to come at once. He left on the noon train.

Miss Alvey is well known here, having visited her brother several times. Her many friends here will regret to learn of her illness.

HAS BEEN AMENDED.

THE LIBRARY WILL BE IN THE HANDS OF TRUSTEES.

It seems that the law placing public libraries in the hands of the board of education in second class cities has been amended, and now places it in the hands of five trustees instead. This will not affect the board now in charge of the library project here. The amendment was not included in the statutes examined by The Sun's informant of yesterday.

WHAT WE AMERICANS READ.

(New York Press.)

John Cotton Dana, of the Newark Free Library, has made the figures show that we read as follows: In one year the total number of daily, weekly and monthly copies of "periodicals" published in the United States is: Dailies, 2,865,466,000; weeklies, 1,208,190,000; monthlies, 263,452,000; total, 4,337,108,000 copies. He estimates that the annual output of these periodicals would make 2,000,000,000 copies of a book the size of one of the trashy novels of the day, that is to say, a book about 8 1/2 inches, containing 400 pages. About 10,000,000 new books are sold annually. Mr. Dana thinks, comprising 4,500 titles, and in his opinion 40,000,000 of our population could read if they would. The annual output of the monthlies is set down at 285,000,000 copies.

DANGERS OF PNEUMONIA.

A cold at this time if neglected is liable to cause pneumonia, which is so often fatal, and even when the patient has recovered the lungs are weakened, making them peculiarly susceptible to the development of consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar will stop the cough, heal and strengthen the lungs and prevent pneumonia.

J. C. GILBERT.

ALL BOXES REPAIRED.

The fire alarm system is now in good working order again, and the cost of repairing it from the damage of the sleet storm was about $1,000. Yesterday afternoon box 23 was pinned on Fourth street, and the tipple, and there is now only one more box to complete the circuit, box 47, which, when it arrives, shall be near the union depot.

A SEVERE COLD FOR

THREE MONTHS.

The following letter from A. J. Nustbaum of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar, and eight doses cured me." Refuse substitutes.

J. C. GILBERT.

FOUND FOR PLAINTIFF.

The writ of detainer of J. P. Holt against T. N. Seny for the possession of a $900 strip of land was tried in Justice Gholson's court yesterday, and a judgment rendered in favor of the plaintiff. The claim set up was that the price agreed on when the land was sold had not been paid by the defendant, or any part of it.

LIVELY FOR A TIME.

There was a lively runaway on lower Court street this morning when one of the F. W. Cook brewery wagon horses became frightened and started off. A case of beer was thrown out at First and Court and broken but other than this no damage was done as the animal was stopped a short distance away.

PNEUMONIA FOLLOWS A COLD.

But never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals and strengthens the lungs and affords perfect security from an attack of pneumonia. Refuse substitutes.

A Professional Visit.

BY FRANK H. SWEET.

(Copyright, 1901, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)
It was bitterly cold, and the two figures threading their way down the mountain side bent to avoid the slanting particles of ice that stung their faces. Yet only the day before the sun had shone and May flowers had opened their petals to a soft breeze.

"Hurry! hurry! Doctor! for mercy's sake, hurry!" Implored one of the figures, shouting in order to be heard above the wind, and the other figure, strong and athletic though it was, threw itself forward still more fiercely in vain endeavor to overtake the old man, who was plunging on ahead. "Hurry! hurry! hurry!" came back to him as part of the wind. "It's ten miles yet, an'
she may be dyin'." For mercy's sake, hurry!"

Only a few hours before, just as the storm was bursting, the old man had appeared at the door of a small isolated hotel in the mountains and demanded a doctor, and when assured there was not one within twenty miles he had thrown up his hands with a despairing, "An' she may be dyin'! She may be dyin'!" Then suddenly straightening himself, he had asked harshly to be shown the road to the nearest doctor. At that moment the young man had appeared.

"I am not a doctor," he had said, "but I studied medicine two years before deciding upon the ministry. I have only just arrived, so I know nothing about the location of doctors here. As you are in a hurry, I may be better than none, and am at your service."

Hardly a word had been spoken since then, except the intermittent "Hurry!
hurry!" Down slopes they had plunged, dodging trees and bowlders, slipping and stumbling, and up slopes they had climbed and scrambled, clinging by sheer force of fingers where they would often have fallen back, their one thought to cover distance as rapidly as possible. Mile after mile fell away behind them and still they bent their faces to the slanting particles of ice, the young man unable to see where he was going, but following his companion, who was apparently oblivious of fatigue or pain.

But suddenly as they hurried on the old man's foot caught in some projection and he was thrown violently forward. Almost instantly, however, he was upon his feet again and plunging on. But only for a few steps, then he tumbled and fell.

"Hurry! hurry!" he called. "I've broke my ankle, and can't keep up.
Feller the ridge till ye come to a gulley with pine trees on one side. Keep through it, and then turn to the right.
My cabin is in the oak scrub beyond."

"But you," protested the young man anxiously, "I cannot leave you like this. Let me attend to your ankle first."

"No, no, no!" screamed the old man harshly. "Go on, I tell ye. There's no time for me. I'm all right an' know every foot of these mountains. If my ankle is broke, I can hobble along, an' I'll get there 'most as soon as you. Go on, I tell ye! Hurry! hurry! For mer-cy's sake, hurry! She may be dyin'!"

The young man sprang away obediently. Along the ridge and down the gulley he hurried, dodging the trees and rocks when he could see them, and brushing himself against them when he could not. The storm still beating in his face, but the bitter cold unnoticed in his haste. At the end of the gulley he heard the rush and roar of turbulent waters, and presently came to the bank of a stream, thirty or forty feet wide, whose current was broken into white ridges by its force against the roughness of the river bed. The old man had not spoken of this. Doubtless he knew of a fording place, and had expected himself to lead the way across.

There was no time to look for a ford now, and without hesitation the young man flung himself into the icy water.
He was a strong swimmer, but when

"Hurry! hurry!" he called.
he drew himself laboriously up the opposite bank he was breathing heavily. Another ten feet of the whirling icy current he felt would have been more than he could have overcomed. For a moment he lay panting and trembling; then rose stiffly to his feet.
In his wet garments he would soon freeze unless he kept moving.

Far up the slope he could see the scrub oaks, and among them was doubtless the cabin. It was still miles away, and would require hard climbing to reach it. But the very exertion of such a climb would be the best means of keeping him from freezing. Up, up he climbed and crawled, all the time more slowly and painfully, his garments soon freezing stiff as boards and his fingers becoming red and blondstained. But at last he reached the scrub, and soon after saw the cabin in which was the life he was to save.
It was late the next day when the even more slowly and painfully. It required several hours to hobble to the cabin. When he pushed open the door with an improvised crutch, he saw a girl lying on a couch, her face pale and frightened, but her eyes clear and bright. For the first time tears began to fall from the old man's eyes, for the brightness of the girl's face told him that she was saved. Upon the floor lay the young man breathing heavily.

"He fell there after he saved me," the girl said, hurriedly, "but first he took some of his own medicine. He said he would try to get to the fire.
I could only lie here and wait and watch. It's been awful, for maybe—Henry is dying. You must hurry for a doctor, uncle."

"Yes, yes; I'll hurry for our right off," said the old man thankfully; "he's earned that. But first I'll get him on the bed an' give him something hot to drink. I reckon maybe he's got chilled and used up."

But as he bent over him, the young

"He fell there after he saw me," man opened his eyes, at first blankly,
then with growing intelligence in them.
"It's more exhaustion than anything else," he whispered, "that had the cold.
I'll be all right in a day or two. Don't go for a doctor, you're not able. You might hand me my box of medicine. It fell on the floor. And—"

The old man bent lower.

"Is— is she doing well? You might— give her another spoonful—from the glass."

The old man nodded, a surprised look coming to his face. But the young man had fallen back unconscious.

Three days later the two were outside the cabin together. The old man was sitting on a bench, his ankle bandaged.

"Your place is all right now," the young man was saying. "If she has another attack, give her the medicine as I have directed. And you must be very careful of your ankle for a week or two— though for that matter I shall be back again— soon. I— you see— I used to know your niece. We attended schools in the same town. Then she disappeared, and I could not obtain her address."

"Yes," said the old man, "an' you've found her here?"

"I've found her here," simply, "and
— and she says I may call again. But good-by."

The old man reached into his pocket.
"I wish I could give you something like what you've done for me," he said.
"Doctor," he said, wistfully, "but I can't. Elsie's paw was rich, but he died, an' Elsie came to live with me.
I gitt my livin' huntin'. This is all the money I've got, but you must take it,"
and he held out a silver dollar.

The young man glanced at it smilingly, with refusal on his lips. But something in the old man's eyes made him change his mind. He took the dollar and slipped it into his pocket.

"Thank you," he said. "Now I must be going."

When he came to the crossing to which the old man had directed him, a tree fallen across the river, he paused and took some letters from his pocket.
One of them he opened and read thoughtfully.

"Dear Jack: Allow me to congratulate you in advance upon your success in the suit. All that was needed was the evidence which you write you have secured. The money is unquestionably yours, and even the other side tacitly admits this, while counting for success upon quibbles of the law. But you must be careful to have your evidence in court on the 20th, or the case will go by default. Five thousand dollars is not much, but it may be of great use to a young fellow like you, who is just starting out in life. Yours
as ever."

The young man tore the letter into strips and dropped them into the swirling current of river.

"It is now the twenty-second," he said contentedly, "and the case has already gone by default. But what of it? I have found Elsie."

One problem which municipal authorities of all countries have been seeking to solve is how to best dispose of the city's garbage. A process has been discovered in France, says Consul Warner, by which garbage is converted into briquettes. It consists of mixing the refuse straw, paper and the like and adding tar and naphthalene. The whole mass is then mixed in a kneading apparatus, dried and pressed into briquettes. The director of the Paris municipal laboratory says that the briquettes have a slight odor of gas, burn brightly and engender heat slowly. With a more highly perfected method of manufacture they will engender less ash, and the heat-producing qualities will be about the

WEARING OF HEADDRESSES.

Marriageable Bachelors Recognized
by Way to Wears His Hair.

It must not be overlooked that many unmarried people express age, position and married or single state by the way they dress their locks. After all, when one comes to think of it, the idea is just as practical as the wearing of a golden band on one finger, says Cassell's Magazine. The wedding ring is not always an evidence here, for a lady is oftentimes gloved; and while some married men wear the circlet in England and on the continent, others do not; and, again, many bac-chela sport the very ring that should only be used to proclaim the wedded state. But the Zulu woman is really more practical, for a first glance at her coiffure assures the observer whether she is maid or wife. The cone-shaped erection is the legitimate symbol of her state of wifehood, and, indeed, cannot be legally worn till the marriage rites are duly completed.
Save for this all-important cone, the bride's head is closely shaved, an as-sual being used to perform this delicate operation. A marriageable Y. M.
youth is also to be recognized by the way he wears his hair. It is shorn to leave a ring round his scalp, and then liberally smeared with ochre and fat. When all the hair has been removed save the woolly portion on the crown, which is trained in a circular form and about four inches in diameter, a ring of gum and charcoal is firmly attached, and this serves as a convenient pocket for the young man.
He is proud of this token of manhood,
and thrusts into it much of the small miscellaneous which an Englishman shows away in his trouser pockets.

The British Royal Banner.

In St. George's Chapel, Windsor, still hangs the royal banner of Queen Victoria, as it has hung for sixty-two years. The unwritten law forbids that it shall be removed until the present sovereign's banner is ready to go up in its place. The sovereign's is the only one embroidered. All the others are painted. King Edward's is now ready and was exhibited yesterday at the Royal School of Art Needlework, where the embroidery has been worked. The highest heraldic authorities have been consulted on the subject, and the result is a certain modification in the design. For instance, the Irish harp is no longer disfigured
by the mermaid-like shape that appears on the old banner. It is now a copy of the ancient harp of Reils, which would reflect the heart of Roslin. The flons are in real cloth of gold, untarnishable. Like the silks with which they are embroidered. They have blue tongues and claws. The foundation is crimson velvet, except in Ireland's quartering, which is royal blue, but a different shade from Garter blue. The whole is bordered with thick gold fringe, also untarnishable. The banner, worked on silk, will be about the

INACCURATE COUNTY

ASSESSMENTS.

It seems evident from an examination of the last recapitulation of the county tax assessor's books, and in fact from those of previous assessors, that the people might as well be spared the expense of an assessor so far as the accuracy of the books is concerned. Perhaps the area of the county and the number of town lots may be approximately correct, but everything else is grossly and palpably wrong.

Take, for instance, the amount credited to deposits in bank, $7,875. The bank statements show that there is on deposit about $700,000, instead of $7,000.

The value of places and other musical instruments is placed at $5,607. Double this amount can be found in houses of any street in the city and the value of wagons, carriages, bicycles and other vehicles, $24,875, can be found in the business section alone, without taking in the countless carriages, wagons and bicycles elsewhere.

With diamonds it is equally as bad. The total value of diamonds assessed in McCracken county is $660. Some families alone have more than that, and a few men and women frequently wear diamonds worth more than $400 on the streets. The value of jewelry is given at $485, hardly more than many single articles are worth, while the value of watches and clocks is given at $640, hardly the value of watches owned by half a dozen of the 5,000 or more men here.

One of the greatest and most glaring blunders is in the number of male voters, given in the assessor's book as 2,166. In Paducah alone there are double that many, as is shown by the returns of every election for the past several years.

Other figures of the assessor are no doubt just as bad. The people of the county may think that such inexcusable errors do not mean anything to them, but they are greatly mistaken. If every man were assessed for what he owns, a great many who now own property that they pay no taxes on would be justly compelled to contribute their share towards defraying the expenses of government. And every man who escapes the assessor causes just that much more to be added to the burden of the man who doesn't. There ought to be some way to reject such an assessment. It is due to the people that there be a fair, impartial and thorough assessment. There is no excuse for the assessor. The assessment would be worse than it is if there had not been raises over his assessment made by the board of supervisors to the amount of about $300,000.

It costs the county a thousand or two dollars a year to have an assessment taken, and several hundred dollars are paid out to the supervisors, and yet the people are called upon to be resigned to an assessment like that. The supervisors are usually men of intelligence, and how they could fail to realize the flagrant inaccuracy of such an assessment is hard to understand. It results in placing the burdens of taxation on the few instead of the many. If the assessed value of property in this county is $8,000,000 the tax rate will be greater and the taxpayer will have to pay more than if it were $10,000,000, and it is obvious that it is nearer the latter than the former.

AGAINST INSURANCE RATES.

There is a great deal of discontent everywhere over the increased rates in insurance. Even in the east, where the people are supposed to be phlegmatic, philosophical and cool-headed and never get rattled, there is a rapidly increasing sentiment condemning the action of the board that boosted insurance rates. Local agents are not to blame. They must write insurance at the rates ordered, or quit for some man who will. It is the heads of the companies who are alleged to maintain a trust gigantic in its proportions, and whose ramifications stop nowhere in America.

The most potent arguments of those opposed to the increase, and who are strenuously fighting it, are summed up by the Philadelphia Times, as follows:

"Because some companies have been careless in taking risks and have lost, the whole combination of them, including companies that are making dividends of 20 to 40 per cent on their capital, agree to clap another 25 or 30 cents per hundred on the patient and profitable Philadelphians to save the weaker companies the painful necessity of reducing their 40 per cent expenses."

"The underwriters believe themselves masters of the situation. Collectively, the insurance companies are rich and powerful and have the whole business under organized control. Their accumulations enable them to withstand loss, if necessary, and no new organization could be formed that could offer sound insurance in competition with them. They are making money, but they want to make more, and they think this a good occasion to create a panic that will enable them to put on the screws. It is simply an attempt to extort money by false pretenses and force. Its obvious injustice has aroused the whole business community of Philadelphia, which has the whole weight of fact and reason on its side and whose firm resistance ought to defeat this daring brigandage."

As pointed out, there seems to be no valid reason why all insurance companies should put up rates to retrieve the losses of some individual companies. A local agent was asked if there was any reason for it, and he was frank enough to say that he did not know of any.

In many places the business men have united in an effort to bust the trust. Paducah has thus far manifested no interest in it.

TOO MUCH MEDDLING

The people of Paducah would like to have the city go into the second class without any further delay. There has been too much dilly-dallying already. The people, it appears, are and have been in favor of going into the second class, despite objections. No matter what disadvantages there may be, they have been in favor of shouldering them all. They have not considered whether the tax levy taken last fall was legal or not, and do not care, and it was not desired by the people nor ordered by the council that the signature of the governor be withheld from the second class bill until the one legalizing the above mentioned assessment be signed. It is wondered who had the authority or audacity to write Representative Clark to hold back the bill for any reason. There has been too much holding back ever since the bill was introduced. The city council did at one meeting order it held back until a bill to relieve the fears of certain officials that they would lose two years of their official scalps if Paducah went into the second class, was introduced, and its disposition decided on, but this bill has never been heard of since and had nothing to do with the assessment bill. It seems that some officious persons have been taking a great deal of liberty in Paducah's affairs. Paducah is entitled by the population shown in the last census to enter the second class, and it was the duty of the legislature to place her there without waiting for anything or anybody, or whether certain measures passed or were defeated. Representative Clark states he was ordered to have the governor not sign the second class bill until the assessment bill was signed. It is not known why, by whom, or by what authority he was thus ordered, but he was, and no one had a right to so order him. The people are wearied with all this child's play. It is a pity we cannot have men of stability at the head of the city government, instead of men who never know one day what they are going to think or do the next. Above all, the people want to get into the second class.

Former President Cleveland, who celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday Wednesday, is still about the biggest man in his party. In commenting on Marso Henri Watterson's statement that the administration at Washington was in bad shape politically, he said of the Republican party: "Well, the party may get badly mixed up with itself at times, but it seems to have the faculty of pulling together at convenient times." This may not be new, but it is certainly true, and its accuracy is conclusively and pathetically demonstrated on every election, at each of which the Republican majority gets bigger.

The Filson Leader is authority for the statement that Mr. Sam Crossland, Graves county's candidate for congress, is preparing to send out thirty thousand circulars over the district defining his position in the campaign and complaining at the action of the committee in calling a primary for May 24 instead of in August, the date suggested by himself.

The Philadelphia Record, Democratic, says: "In his paper, the Commoner, Colonel Bryan frequently calls attention to the great mistakes of the Democratic party and to the necessity of avoiding them in the future. Two great mistakes within the last ten years will not be apt to soon be banished from the Democratic mind."

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat thinks that the people of Kentucky will become so urgent in their demands for representation at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition they will compel an extra session to make the appropriation refused by a penny wise, pound-foolish legislature.

Mayor Lang was mistaken instead of misquoted.

RETIREMENT PROBABLE.

General Miles Breaks Loose Again at Washington.

His Utterances the Subject of a Conference This Morning.

Washington, March 21.—The statement made by General Miles yesterday afternoon before the senate committee on military affairs, in which he declared that if the pending bill creating a general staff for the army should become a law he would resign his commission, was the subject this morning of a conference between President Roosevelt and a number of his callers.

It seems there is little doubt that these statements will ultimately lead to General Miles' retirement by the President.

In discussing the matter with senators and representatives the President took the position that the lieutenant-general of the army, General Miles, should show the same respect to his superior officers that he would exact and demand from his subordinates.

Coming so close on General Miles' recent blunder in talking too much about the Sebley case, it is believed that General Miles will not be in the service much longer.

AN INTELLIGENT POODLE.

Dog Brings the Right Card Do Insects Reason?

"Have animals reason?" was one of the questions raised by Lord Avebury in an interesting address given at the London Institution, and certainly it seems hard to deny to the intelligent poodle Dan, with whom Lord Avebury experimented, some glimmerings of the faculty which is said to separate men from brutes. Dan was able after a time to distinguish between the number of cards inscribed with such suggestive words as "Food," "Tea," "Water," and when he required anything to bring the right card. Lord Avebury thought it was hardly possible to study closely communities of ants without allowing that they were possessed of reasoning powers in some degree and even of moral feeling. On the other hand, the processional caterpillar appears to be an insect of a very low order of intelligence. Processional caterpillars when out for an expedition weave a thread, by means of which they find their way back, and a small party was led by an ingenious scientist up a flowerpot and round the top. He then cleared away the ascending thread, and for eight days did those caterpillars walk round and round the top of the flowerpot, following the circular thread which remained until they dropped off from fatigue and exhaustion.—London Chronicle.

Punishment.

Punishment are often the only instruments in the hands of a loving God by which individuals with evil wills are persuaded to do well. The fact that God always forgives does not banish the consequences of wrong-doing.—Rev. D. C. Dorchester.

DAMAGE EXPECTED

From Grasshoppers This Year In Kentucky and Elsewhere

Experts Will Look For Some Means To Rid The Country Of The Pests

The appearance of countless small grasshoppers in this section of the state has resulted in an investigation, showing that Western Kentucky generally has suffered from the visitation.

It is learned that from certain signs discovered by the National Agricultural department agents in Kansas, Nebraska and Texas, the chief entomologist, L. O. Howard, has concluded that the coming summer will be marked by unusual injury from grasshoppers. This is calculated from the continuance of certain climatic conditions known to breed abnormally numerous swarms of the pest.

An expert will give all his time to studying the conditions under which grasshoppers breed and the chief entomologist will then endeavor to find some preventive which will exterminate the pest before the grasshoppers become capable of injuring the crops.

It is stated that the total value of goods consumed in Berlin will exceed $3,500,000, and the consumption is increasing rapidly.

OF BLOODPOISONING

Death of Mr. William Clements Near Dexter Last Night.

Was a Victim of a Slight Accident—Father of Messrs. Dick and Harry Clements.

Mr. William Clements of Dexter, Ky., died last night at 8 o'clock from blood poisoning and will be buried this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

About three weeks ago he skinned his ankle slightly and thought nothing of the matter until several days later, when the member began to swell. Blood poisoning set in and he grew rapidly worse until last night, when he died.

He was about 60 years of age at the time of death, and leaves three sons, Messrs. Richard, Harry, of Paducah, and Horace of Dexter, and two daughters, both married. His wife died several weeks ago. Mr. Richard Clements and brother Harry are the well known book store men, and left last night for Dexter to attend the funeral.

One Block Contains 8,700 Persons. The most populous block in the world is said to be that in New York, extending from Amsterdam to West End avenue and from Sixty-first street to Sixty-second street. Eighty-seven hundred human beings, of twenty-six different nationalities, of every race, color and creed, are huddled together in five and six-story tenements.

DIRECT CONNECTION.

Prospect That Smithland and Paducah Will Be Joined By Telephone.

The Cumberland Has About Arranged To Make the Desired Connection.

The Cumberland Telephone company, which operates the East Tennessee here, has about completed arrangements with the owners of the new telephone line from Smithland to Madisonville, to give us direct connection with Smithland, Ky., something that has long been desired, especially by the merchants, who do a large business in that territory. Paducah would then get many orders, it is claimed, that now go to Evansville, and would have connection with many other towns in Livingston county as well, including Salem, Hampton, Carrollsburg and Hirsleville.

In case the deal goes through, it will not only give direct connection with these places, but will reduce the cost from fifty cents a message to thirty-five cents a message.

At present the only way to telephone from here to Smithland is to telephone to Kuttawa, Grand Rivers, or other cities in that vicinity and have the message repeated over another line to some one in Smithland. The same kind of arrangement made with the Smithland line has been made by the Cumberland people with all the small lines in Illinois.

—"The Village Parson," which comes to The Kentucky for a return engagement Thursday is a drama strong in human interest. —Without exaggeration the production of Faust given by the Laskie company at the opera house last evening was one of the best ever seen in our city. Mary Von Tromp Labadie as Marguerite earned off the honors easily. Her portrayal of Goethe's immortal character was as finished as any single affords today. Hubert Labadie as Mephisto, sustained the part evenly and well. The scenery was all special. The electrical effects were particularly good.—Hornellsville, N. Y. Daily. —Senator J. P. Dolliver of Iowa, says Mrs. Beecher has done more to give life and heart to the art of public reading than any of our present day elocutionists. Her art has a charm and a fascination beyond the genius of either the platform or the stage of today. In her reading of "Quo Vadis" she gave that great assembly a new sensation—the sensation that makes one wandering among pictures fear to go on lest the lofty impression of the masterpiece be lost. Mrs. Beecher comes to The Kentucky April 1 with Miss Jessie Bartlett Davis in the concert for the benefit of the Home of the Friendless.

Hats in Elevators.

A crusade has been inaugurated at the national capital against the southern custom of men removing their hats while riding in elevators if there are any lady passengers. The reason for the crusade is said to be altogether hygienic, as physicians have stated that there is great danger in the custom. Notices have been posted in the corridors of several large office buildings to the effect that good taste does not require gentlemen to remove their hats in the presence of ladies who may be using the elevator. It is claimed that there is really no more reason why a man should remove his hat in a public elevator because women are present than that he should do the same thing in a street car.

RACE WARMING UP. AMONG THE ELKS

Louisville Knights of the Grip Both Want To Be State President.

They Are Now Struggling For Paducah's Indorsement—Election Here May 3rd.

PADUCAH'S CHOICE IS NOT KNOWN

The state meeting of the Travelers' Protective Association here next month promises to be much livelier than usual. It will all be over the race for the presidency of the association between Mr. V. H. Engelhard and Mr. George Adlam, both of Louisville Post D. Louisville has thirty-five votes, and next comes Paducah with twenty votes. The two candidates are now struggling for supremacy and the indorsement of these two posts.

The local post will hold its meeting and annual election of officers on Saturday week, March 29, but will not act on the state president matter. The state meeting will be held here the 3rd of May, and then Paducah's vote will in all probability decide the contest.

"Allegations and counter-allegations are flying thick and fast in the strenuous campaigns which are on," says the Louisville Times of the contest. "The traveling men say they have the majority in the membership, and should have some say in the running of the association. They claim that hitherto the whole men have dominated the organization."

"It is further claimed that at a regular meeting of Post D, on February 22 last, before Mr. Engelhard had announced his candidacy, Mr. Adlam was regularly indorsed by the post for the presidency of the state association, and Mr. Fulton Gordon for state secretary. They say that Mr. Engelhard came into the race later, not because he cared for the presidency, but to help out Mr. Beckmann in his race for the post secretaryship, the idea being that Mr. Engelhard's candidacy would cause a full attendance of the wholesalers at the election. The traveling men say they do not believe Mr. Engelhard would accept the position if elected."

"To all these allegations the wholesalers enter sweeping denials. Asked about the charge that his candidacy was not bona fide, Mr. Engelhard said to a reporter:

"Please deny that. I am in this race heart and soul to win. I shall certainly accept and retain the office if elected."

"Mr. Engelhard's friends say he is peculiarly fitted for the position of president, being a leading wholesale grocer, a director of the Commercial Club and chairman of the state development committee of that organization. They say Mr. Adlam is all right, but claim that the fact that he is on the road most of the time would interfere with the discharge of his duties. They also charge that, as Mr. Adlam travels for an Indianapolis house, his chief interests lie in Indiana, rather than Kentucky. It is also claimed that the fact that Mr. Short is on the road most of the time would make it difficult, if not impossible, for him to attend to the duties of post secretary."

"Next to Louisville, Paducah has the most votes for president, twenty in all. Friends of Mr. Engelhard claim he will get Paducah's unanimous indorsement. Should this be done, they think Mr. Engelhard would stand a good chance for the presidency, even if he lost Post D's instruction."

"The contest will grow more and more exciting as the time for election approaches."

No Paducah drummer could be found who knew which of the gentlemen would win out here. It is a matter that is to be decided later.

Paducah Lodge Last Night Transacted Considerable Business At Its Regular Session

THE LATEST CARNIVAL NEWS NOTES

Paducah lodge held its regular meeting last night and initiated Mr. Tom Hall, the well known traveling salesman for C. H. Kleke and Sons, and Mr. L. Guy Harris, traveling salesman for L. B. DuBois and Co.

The lodge is increasing rapidly and there are about 150 members. Last night four more applications were received.

The soliciting committee is much encouraged in its work, as are the managers of the Country Store.

The voting for queen is not brisk thus far, but later on, when favorites are picked, it will become very interesting.

"Uncle Joe," in the Marshall County Democrat, has the following to say of "Big Sis" in Paducah:

"Dear Democrat—Did you ever notice a little country girl at the time of shelling teeth?

"In plain dress, with a pleasant smile that shows the vacant spaces in her mouth, she seems content to take things easy."

"We call her 'Sis' for short, but the first thing you know time brings her into the larger teens, you see a 'Big sis' instead of the miss of careless rag doll days. She receives company, entertains and is on the lookout for beauty."

"In the nearby past Paducah was just this kind of a miss. The vacant places in her business blocks marked the missing teeth, but not so now, for those spaces are well filled and she is going to entertain us in May with what they call an Elk Carnival."

"An Elk may have broad antlers, but when such bipeds as Charles Weille, the clothier, and L. A. Laguarda, the dealer in liquid goods, take part in the management, no one is apt to be severely gored."

"I like all harmless amusement when the cash cost is small. If a dollar is spent at this entertainment it is not thrown away. We are promised the worth of our money in sight-seeing. Best of all when 'big sis,' Paducah, is noticed by the outside world and catches a moneyed bean it helps the whole family, by having him cast his life and lot with her; for every store, factory or other business there means better market for the farm products of Marshall county."

"Let the merry Elks romp; we are sure of our part of the fun, is the opinion of Uncle Joe."

The Mayfield Elks are getting up a library, and have adopted the plan of holding receptions and having each visitor bring some volume suitable for the library. In this way it is expected to soon have an array of books of which they may well feel proud.

The club house committee of Frankfort lodge No. 530, B. P. O. E., has awarded the contract for building the new club house to be erected at Main and Lewis streets to Mr. Enekey. The lodge has approved the action of the committee and the work will begin almost immediately. The contract price is $9,400. The building will be a very handsome one.

Since the inauguration of street fairs, midway and carnivals many various entertainments have been given by midway companies in the course of their travels. None, however, has obtained more lasting popularity than the German Village provided by the Bostock-Ferari Midway Carnival Co. It is the usual custom with this institution to provide tables and chairs for its patrons, and where liquors are objected to, a serving of light refreshments is substituted for the comfort of the visitors. Its appointments are the same as those of any first class music hall, a large stage being erected in the rear, hung with proper scenery and stage effects. Upon the stage is usually presented a high class vaudeville entertainment wherein the German dialect takes prominence. German comedians, singers and dancers are always on the program with a budget of comic songs and sayings. Witty repartee and gags are in order, while the best feature is probably the Tyrolenn Warblers. Love songs of the fatherland and the patrols of Germany are rendered with a vim that finds quick appreciation among the audience. If a continuous program is necessary, vaudeville acts of refined nature are produced. The German Village, as well as being a place of amusement, forms a resting place for the visitors should become tired or foot-sore. They will here more than get their money's worth, and a chance to catch their breath between the fast following sensations of the carnival.

STRAWBERRIES COMING.

A BIG BUSINESS WILL BE DONE BY THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

It is expected that this year there will be one of the largest strawberry and vegetable crops ever known in the South. Early vegetables are already being sent to market and strawberries are in bloom in the truck farming belt of Mississippi. Strawberries, it is announced, will be started north from Northern Louisiana and Southern Mississippi next week.

Reports carefully gathered from the principal fruit and vegetable centers seem to indicate that there has been considerable increase in the acreage this year, and, while the season is somewhat backward, a prosperous year's business is expected. The express companies are getting things in shape, and putting on extra men to handle the large business. They expect the best business in the strawberry line this year of many years previous.

The Illinois Central yearly puts on many additional trains and crews, and is now preparing for the big rush.

REVOLT IN HAYTI.

MANY CITIZENS ARRESTED AND IMPRISONED ON CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY.

Port-Au-Prince, Hayti, March 21—Many citizens charged with conspiring against the government were arrested and imprisoned today and a number of others sought refuge in the various consulates.

Among the citizens imprisoned are Judge Bonjolly, of the supreme court, and General Destouches. M. Senegre, a candidate for the presidency, was refused an asylum in the French legation. The agitation is spreading in the republic. The minister of public works, M. C. Leconte, has left Port-Au-Prince for Jacmel with a detachment of troops.

AUTHOR BEN BOLT DYING.

DR. THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH ILL IN NEWARK, N. J.

Newark, N. J., March 21—Dr. Thomas Dunn English, ex-congressman and author of Trilby's song, "Ben Bolt," is dying in this city. Dr. English is now 82 and is one of the two men above Mason and Dixon's line who has received an honorary degree from William and Mary's college in Virginia. Dr. English also holds an M. D. from the university of Pennsylvania. He served in the New Jersey legislature during the war and twice was sent to congress. His name has rarely appeared of late, even in connection with Dr. Manier's book. He has been living quietly in Newark.

WAR MINISTER TO RESIGN.

BARON KODAMA WILL BE SUCCEEDED BY JAPANESE GENERAL.

Tokio, March 21—It is now practically certain that Baron Kodama, minister of war, will resign his office. The baron, who formerly held the ministry of war in Marquis Ito's cabinet, will probably be succeeded by Lieut. Gen. Baron Terauchi, assistant chief of general staff.

SERBIAN CABINET RESIGNS

TWO FINE SPECIMENS

OF PHYSICAL MANHOOD

No form of athletic exercise demands such perfect physical condition as prize fighting. Every muscle in the body must be fully developed and supple, and the heart, lungs and stomach must act to perfection.

Whether we endorse prize fighting or not, it is nevertheless interesting to know the manner by which men arrive at such physical perfection.

James Jeffries, the present champion heavyweight of the world, and his gallant opponent, Tom Sharkey, in the greatest pugilistic encounter that has ever taken place, both pursued much the same course of training, and the first and most important part of this training was to get the stomach in condition, and to keep the digestion absolutely perfect, so that every muscle and nerve would be at its highest capabilities.

This was not done by a secret patent medicine, but both of these great pugilists used a well known natural digestive tablet sold by druggists under name of Sturt's Dyspepsia Tablets, and composed of the digestive ferments which every stomach requires for healthy digestion.

Champion Jeffries says: "Sturt's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent acidity strengthen the stomach and insure perfect digestion. They keep a man in fine physical condition." Signed, James J. Jeffries, champion of the world.

The gallant fighter, Sharkey, says: "Sturt's Dyspepsia Tablets remove all discomfort after eating. They rest the stomach and restore it to a healthy condition. I heartily recommend them." Signed, Thomas J. Sharkey.

The advantage of the daily use of Sturt's Dyspepsia Tablets is that they keep people well and ward off sickness and are equally valuable to well persons as to the dyspeptics. Another advantage is that these tablets contain no cathartics, or poisons of any character, but simply digestive ferments which are found in every healthy stomach, and when digestion is impaired it is because the stomach lacks some of these elements and Sturt's Dyspepsia Tablets supply it.

They are no cheap cathartics, but a perfectly safe and efficient digestive and the demand for them is greater than the sale of all other so-called dyspepsia cures combined. No remedy could possibly reach such a place in public esteem except as a result of positive merit.

Full-sized packages are sold by all druggists at 50 cents, and the best habit you can possibly form is to take a Sturt's Tablet after each meal. They make weak stomachs strong and keep strong stomachs vigorous.

Fidgety

people are lacking in nervous strength. The weak, care-worn, melancholy, headachy, and low-spirited men and women are easily excited, impatient, fidgety, and unable to sleep at night. Worn-out nerves must be built up, and the vitality of the whole system replenished before relief can come.

"The least bit of noise or sudden jar would nearly drive me crazy, and I was just too fidgety for anything. I was so nervous that I could not rest or sleep. The first dose of Dr. Miles' Nervine brought me sleep, and after that I got well fast." Mrs. A. R. MORRELL, Arcola, Ill.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

builds up the nerves, strengthens the brain, and fortifies and refreshes the whole system.

Captain Frank Lyons of Yazoo City, Miss., is in the city with the view of purchasing a steamboat to work in his trade on the lower Mississippi river. He recently sold his boat, the steamer Frank Lyons, to work on the Illinois river, and has his eye on the steamer Golconda, which has just been let off the docks.

Captain Bob Ferguson, a pioneer citizen of Smithland, and a well known river man, is very ill at the latter place, and his son, Hamlet Ferguson of Kansas City, has been wired to come. Captain Ferguson has been ill since Tuesday, and it is feared he cannot recover. He is 76 years old, and retired some years ago.

The largest canal coal field in America has just been opened in Morgan county, Ky., and the placing of this splendid fuel on the market in competition with the bituminous coal is interesting to consumers throughout the country. As yet the mining facilities are meager and it will be months or years before this coal can be secured throughout the United States as is bituminous coal, but capital and industry are destined to develop the fields so that if the quantity is as has been represented every part of the world will get some of the supply. The territory now being developed covers 8,000 acres rich with canal coal, and a new railroad has just been completed, so that it can be got on the market. Indeed, at this point, which is about ninety miles distant from the fields, this coal is already in competition with the bituminous, selling for $1.25 a ton to the other at $1.

The Courier-Journal tells this story on the late Capt. Sanders, who died recently at Frankfort. Many years ago, way back in the fifties, when the late Captain Sam Sanders was coming down Kentucky river with the side wheel Blue Wing, an old darkey had the best from the bank below Men-drey with a chair of fire. The boat stopped and the negro shouted, "Is dat you, Cap'n Sam?" "Yes," answered the Captain. "Well, looky heah, Cap'n, ef yo' gwine 'long up ar' down de river, ef you see or heah ob er valler dog, wid er stuh tail no' n' shir in his ear, I wush you'd inn' leme know whar he is." "I will," replied the good old man, as he ordered the boat ahead. He put the dog off at the old negro's landing going up next trip, and the negro never got tired of thanking him.

A Pittsburg dispatch says, Captain W. L. Silbert, engineer in charge of the improvements of the rivers in the Pittsburg district, returned today from a trip to the upper Monongahela river. Captain Silbert went to inspect the work being done between Morgantown and Fairmont, W. Va., and to arrange the preliminaries for the starting of work on the locks and dams between these two points. The government has begun the construction of five dams between Morgantown and Fairmont, a distance of twenty-five miles, and work will be resumed on them early in April. The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company today sent out the Exporter and Coal City, each with tows of seventeen coal boats. The shipment amounts to 425,000 bushels. The People's Coal company sent out the Oakland with sixteen boats. The Oakland will go through to New Orleans, and from Louisville will have a tow of twenty-eight boats.

It is stated that the protocol will be submitted to Admiral Walker, chairman of the isthmian canal commission, before the end of the current week, to be by him turned over to Secretary Hyn. Dr. Silva left Washington yesterday for New York city, whence he will sail shortly for Colombia.

COLORED COMMENCEMENT.

THERE IS NO GRADUATING CLASS IN COLORED SCHOOLS.

Three years ago two grades in the colored High School were merged into one and this year there will be no colored commencement, as a result.

Last year there was no tenth grade in the colored High School, and of course leaves no graduating class for this year. This is the first time the colored people have failed to have their regular commencement exercises in several years, but the same conditions are not likely to exist again for some time to come.

Even when a girl has money in her own name she is anxious to change it.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION

Applicants For Teacher's Certificates To Be Examined In June.

This Year There Is a New Rule Requiring a Physical Examination.

The teachers' examinations, for certificates to teach in the local public schools will probably be held on the 17th and 18th of June, the two days following the commencement exercises.

It has been customary to hold the examinations immediately after the commencement exercises, and this year will be no exception to the rule.

The matter is left with the board, which acts on the recommendations of a special committee which will report for the two days mentioned above. The following are the subjects on which the applicants will be examined:

For primary grades—Theory and practice of teaching, geography, English grammar, arithmetic, spelling, writing and reading.

For grammar grades—In addition to the above mentioned subjects will be history of the United States, physiology and civil government.

For High School grades—Theory of teaching, physics, algebra, Latin, general history, physical geography, rhetoric, geometry, botany, literature, geology, trigonometry, civil government, psychology and astronomy. In addition to these studies subject drawing will be required in all the departments.

All teachers now employed in the schools and who continue to teach will not be required to undergo another examination, but one new rule lately added, is that all applicants will have to undergo a thorough medical examination. The rule was added on account of the illness of several teachers who were not able to properly attend to their classes, and under such condition the pupils are likely to suffer by the continual changing from the regular teacher to the substitute. An average of 80 per cent is required to secure a certificate in all the departments.

A GENEROUS REPEAT.

If it is true that no rose by any other name would smell as sweet, it should also be true that what we call an early loss, when we speak of potatoes, by any other name would taste as good. But all potatoes are not so potently named, as two women discovered just after they had finished a farmhouse luncheon.

They were out on a bicycle tour, and became very hungry, as bicycle riders often do. As there was no inn anywhere within easy reach, they applied at a farmhouse for food. An old man was working in the potato patch, and they attempted to negotiate with him for a luncheon.

He was very willing to do what he could, and reassured them by declaring that although he was afraid there was not much else to eat in the house he had plenty of potatoes and he could recommend them as the finest in the country.

The luncheon was entirely satisfactory, and after the guests had finished it, they spoke enthusiastically of their repast, and praised the potatoes in particular.

"Yes," said the old farmer, slowly, "you might ha' done wuss. You have eaten two Schoolmisters, two Blacksmiths, four Kidneys and a couple of White Elephants."

THE PEACHBLOW VASE.

History of a Rare Specimen of a Famous Chinese Ware.

The rarest and most expensive of all Chinese porcelain is the famous "peachblossom," which was made for a very short time only in 1661-1722, in the reign of Kuang Hsi. The secret was the exclusive possession of a single family, and it died out with them. A singular thing is that the ware occurs only in five different forms, almost identical in shade and dimensions. Of the fifth form only a single example is known to exist, and this is the famous "peachblossom vase," whose history is as follows: About twenty years ago an American bought it in China for $20. Not long afterward it was sold by a New York dealer to Mrs. Mary J. Morgan, who is said to have paid $15,000 for it. A few years later, in 1886, at the sale of the deceased Mrs. Morgan's art collection, it was repurchased by the same dealer for $18,000. The story was current at the time that the dealer, expecting to get the vase at a low figure, had already sold it "short" for $3,000, so that he lost $15,000 by the transaction. It is now in the collection of William T. Walters of Baltimore. An expert in Chinese porcelain has called it "as perfect a work of art of its kind as the Venus of Milo."—Detroit Free Press.
